Greely and Party A deposit consisting of two hundred and fifty rations was left in 1875 at Cape Collinson, at an estimated distance from Lieutenant Greely s station of one hundred and thirty-seven miles. The same expedition left a depot at Cape Hawks, fifty miles further to the southward, consisting of bread, pickles, and preserved potatoes; this cache was examined by Greely while en-route to his destination. A deposit of two hundred and forty rations was also made by Nares near Cape Sabine, another at Cape Morton, and about one hundred and fifty pounds of meat at Cape Isabella, but these stores were not examined by Greely, neither did he see those at Cape Collinson. While en-route to his station, Greely made a deposit of two hundred and twenty-five bread and meat rations at Carl Ritter Bay, seventy-five miles south of Lady Franklin Bay. He also deposited six and one-half tons of coal at Littleton Island, and knew that at the...
