HISTORY The Massachusetts Society for Mental Hygiene, whose first president was the late Judge Harvey H. Baker, was organized and incorporated in 1913 and began its public service in 1914. During the last five years the Society has carried on an extensive campaign of popular education through public lectures, the preparation and distribution of literature, and annual conferences which have been participated in by the foremost authorities on mental hygiene. Similar societies in other states have sometimes established clinics, sometimes worked through social service channels and still others have devoted themselves to efforts for legislation. The Massachusetts Society, on the other hand, has confined itself to educational work, with a view (1) to creating a demand for adequate care of the mentally disordered and defective by enlarging the circle of those who know and understand the problems and, (2)...
